Children in the Arts Piano Competition
Herb Skolnick Community Center
800 SW 36th Avenue
Saturday, November 19th
7:00 p.m.

The Children in the Arts Piano Competition is celebrating its 21st year with over 70 talented children from Broward, Palm Beach and Miami Dade counties competing for prizes, trophy's and cash awards. This competition is the largest piano competition in the state of Florida. The children compete all day before a panel of judges to win first, second or third place in individual categories ranging from primary to advanced levels. Judges are chosen from universities throughout the state of Florida.

The top three winners in every category will perform in a recital at 7:00 p.m. The evening concert is free and open to the public. There is no charge for the children to enter the competition. Entrance is based on ability. The final winners will be announced at the completion of the recital on Saturday night.

The event is hosted by the City of Pompano Beach, Herb Skolnick Cultural Foundation, Palm Aire Friends of the Arts and local businesses owners. The competition is coordinated by the Broward County Music Teachers Association.

The Children in the Arts Piano Competition encourages children to study the classical form of music. For more information call 954-786-4111.
