2012 MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

At the Induction Ceremony held on March 20th, three City Commissioners were sworn into office. All three City Commissioners that were up for election in 2012 ran unopposed. Barry Dockswell (District 1), Rex Hardin (District 3) and George Brummer (District 5) were all sworn into office by City Clerk Mary Chambers to serve a two-year term.

Also at the Induction Ceremony, an election among the City Commission was held to appoint a vice mayor. George Brummer was unanimously elected to serve as vice mayor and will serve in that capacity for a one year term.

Residents have confirmed that Pompano Beach City Government has made great strides to improve City services, customer service and the overall perception of Pompano Beach City Government. A recent Customer Service Survey with positive results was the second survey the City has conducted.

In April of 2010, the first Customer Service Survey was taken with the aim of benchmarking and improving City services. The City of Pompano Beach retained an outside firm to create and complete a survey of the City's residents to determine their attitudes and perceptions towards various City services. The survey was taken from a cross section of City of Pompano Beach residents. Numerous programs have been implemented since that survey was taken in each City department in order to adjust and improve City Government.

The follow-up Customer Service Survey was taken 18 months after the first survey in order to implement the initiatives and give residents time to utilize various City services and work with City staff. Results of this survey are very encouraging and speak to the modifications and efforts of staff initiatives.

The overall impression of the City of Pompano Beach was rated as very positive with 87.2% of the respondents indicating that their impression was either favorable or very favorable. This rating is up from 60.5% in 2010. Conversely, only 1.3% felt the impression of the City was unfavorable, down from 7.3%. The most impressive improvement was the performance of the City government with the favorable rating increasing from 35.8% in 2010 to 55.5% in 2012 an increase of almost; 20%. The very favorable rating doubled from 3.3% in 2010 to 6.7% in 2012. Another survey question that received very positive results was citizen satisfaction with interactions with City employees at 94.5%. Other questions and results about City services and departments were broken down more distinctively.

This recent Customer Service Survey is confirmation that the City of Pompano Beach is gaining on the objective of improving City services and improving customer satisfaction. With this feedback, we will continue our effort to improve our City's customer experience.

The entire Customer Service Survey results can be viewed by visiting the City's website at www.mypompanobeach.org.

PRIME RATE BUSINESS LOANS

OFFERED BY THE OFFICE OF HOUSING AND URBAN IMPROVEMENT

The City of Pompano Beach added another tool to help Pompano businesses thrive this year. The Office of Housing & Urban Improvement is offering Revolving Loan Fund loans of $25,000 to $50,000 at the Prime Rate, which has been hovering around 3.25%. Here's how the program works:

Using $500,000 of HUD Economic Development money, OHUI created the Revolving Loan Fund. The Fund's purpose is to help businesses grow so they can create or retain jobs for low and moderate income persons. Although the loans are much like private bank loans, the lower interest rate reduces monthly loan payments. Lower monthly payments help cash flow, an important ingredient for success.

Revolving Loan Fund loans can be used for a broad range of activities, including working capital for inventory; machinery; equipment and building improvements.

Any business located in Pompano Beach can apply, but those located in the Enterprise Zone or the Northwest or East CRA may qualify for additional incentives that will make their loan money go even further. For example, a business in the Enterprise Zone that puts its loan towards building improvements can get a refund of up to $10,000 for sales taxes on building materials used in the project. The State offers similar Enterprise Zone refunds for equipment purchases and other activities.

Stop by Room 220 in City Hall to pick up an application or, log onto PompanoCommunityDevelopment.com to download it. OHUI staff will review your completed application and make a recommendation to the Fund's loan committee. Funds are limited, so apply now.

Call the Office of Housing and Urban Improvement at 954.786.4659 for additional information.

The news is good for 10,000 Pompano Beach homes, not so much for 1,390 properties. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is preparing the first comprehensive review of flood zones throughout Broward County in 19 years using a new “vertical datum,” that enables consistent comparisons of land and water elevations across the nation. The preliminary maps are undergoing an extensive review process and will not become effective until sometime between the last quarter of 2012 and the first quarter of 2013.

The proposed flood zone maps show nearly 10,000 homes in the City of Pompano Beach are no longer located within flood zones that requires mandatory flood insurance to obtain mortgages. It is always advisable to have flood insurance, however, those homeowners who keep their flood insurance policies after they are officially removed from the flood zone should enjoy lower premiums and still be protected against possible flooding.

However, approximately 1,390 properties in Pompano Beach are now mapped into a higher-risk flood zone and/or show a new Base Flood Elevation requiring flood insurance where it was not previously required. You can find out if your property will be in a flood zone when the new maps are adopted by emailing your address to floodzoneinfo@copbfl.com. If you will be in a flood zone when the new maps are adopted, it would be beneficial to talk to an insurance agent about buying flood insurance before the maps are adopted. Having an existing flood insurance policy may result in lower flood insurance premiums when the flood insurance requirement becomes mandatory for your property with the adoption of the new maps.

More information, as well as digital access to the new maps, are available at: broward.org and search for ‘Proposed New Flood Maps’.

CONTRACTORS FORUM III

The Development Services Department held its third Contractors Forum inviting residents, contractors, developers, business owners and builders to help improve Pompano Beach’s permitting process. Development Service employees have been working hard to implement recommendations that came out of the two previous Contractor Forums.

This year’s Contractors Forum was kicked off by rolling out the new E-Plan Review Process. The E-Plan review process allows design professionals to submit electronic (paperless) plans to the City for review. Through the electronic submittal, multiple plan reviewers can work on the plans at the same time. The software also highlights any revisions to the plans, thus allowing the City to review plan revisions quickly and accurately. These efficiency gains mean that residents, builders and businesses are able to receive their building permits in less time than ever before. In addition to speeding up the permitting process, E-Plan reduces printing and production costs by eliminating the need for multiple paper copies of printed plans.

The Contractors Forum provided attendees an opportunity to meet with staff and ask questions about permitting procedures, requirements and policies and provide valuable feedback about ways to improve the permitting process.

RETROACTIVE LANDSCAPING FOR OLDER PROPERTIES

On October 30th, 1973, the City of Pompano Beach implemented its first landscape ordinance. This was the City's first effort to require minimum amounts of grass, hedges and trees to be installed on a property in conjunction with a new building permit. The intent of these requirements was to preserve and encourage open space, which improves the environmental quality, the aesthetic appearance of our City and has a positive impact on property values. Trees and landscaping also help filter pollution; can act as noise and visual buffers; can reduce the ambient air temperatures; can hold and consolidate soil to absorb storm water runoff; and often encourage and promote public awareness of the environment.

Over the years, the landscape ordinance evolved to include additional requirements such as native landscaping, minimum maintenance standards, automatic irrigation, tree protection and preservation, landscape installation specifications, screening of mechanical equipment and dumpsters, landscape islands in parking lots, buffer and perimeter landscaping, and street trees in the City's rights-of-way.

In 1998, the City recognized that older properties, if developed without any landscaping, often had a blighting influence on neighboring businesses and residences. To help combat this problem, the City Commission adopted what has become known as our "Retroactive-Landscape Code." This ordinance required all properties developed prior to 1973 (except single family homes) be "retrofitted" with minimum levels of landscaping. Some of the minimum requirements included screening for dumpsters and mechanical equipment; placing sod and street trees in the public rights-of-way; providing hedges and trees between parking areas and the street; and providing landscaping in front of buildings which face a street. All of these requirements improve the community by removing unnecessary impervious areas, improving drainage, visually buffering pedestrian access from vehicular uses and improve our streetscape for a more appealing experience.

The retroactive landscape plan process begins with a current survey of the property, which is reviewed by Development Services Department staff. The property owner must then have the "retro-landscape" requirements illustrated on a landscape plan. Although it is not required, having a Landscape Architect, Engineer or Architect on board helps with accuracy and ease. Once the plan is complete, it is submitted to the Development Services Department for review and approval. This plan becomes the official landscape plan on record for the developed property.

If you own property developed prior to 1973 (excluding single family homes) and do not have a retroactive landscape plan on file with the City, please call 954-786-4926. Our experienced staff will walk you through the requirements and help you draft a plan. Having the plan approved and implemented can help avoid potential Code Compliance citations.

The retroactive landscape requirements can be viewed in full on the City's website. To review these requirements, please visit mypompanobeach.org, scroll to the bottom of the page, and select "City Charter/City's Code of Ordinances." Then, navigate through the tabs to the section entitled "155.132 Existing Uses."

Over the past 12 years, the City of Pompano Beach has approved hundreds of plans for "retro-landscape" compliance. The implementation of this ordinance has had much success throughout the City of Pompano Beach and has visually improved communities and surrounding neighborhoods.

By Dan Hobby,
Pompano Beach
Historical Society

In January, 1836, the Florida Legislature created a new county that covered the southeastern portion of the peninsula, from the upper Keys north to the mouth of the St. Lucie River. Named in honor of Major Francis Dade, a U.S. Army commander who recently had been killed, along with most of his command, in an ambush by Seminole Indians, Dade County had but a handful of residents.

It was not until 1885 that a county school board was established and began meeting. In the fall of that year, Dade County's first public school was opened in what is today the town of Palm Beach. A year or two later, a second school was opened in present-day Miami. As the population of southeastern Florida began to grow, new schools were built, and within a decade, the School Board was operating as many as 15 schools throughout the county, including at least one in Miami for black students.

The completion of the Florida East Coast Railway extension to Miami in 1896, led to the creation of new settlements along the tracks, including one named Pompano.

By 1899, there were enough children living in the Pompano area that the Dade County School Board authorized a school for the community. As was the procedure then, the school board provided plans for a one-room schoolhouse and the lumber needed; local men provided the labor to build the structure.

On October 2nd, 1899 Pompano's first public school opened its door to nine students. As many of the early settlers lived near what is today known as Lake Santa Barbara, the schoolhouse was located in that area, around the present-day intersection of S.E. Fifth Street and 25th Avenue. Mary Butler was hired as the town's first teacher, and was paid $40 per month. That same year, a similarly small school was opened in Fort Lauderdale, with 19-year-old Ivy Cromartie serving as its first teacher. These were the first two schools in what is today Broward County.

By 1901, there were 28 students attending the Pompano school. As with other local schools in agricultural areas, school terms were abbreviated. The original Pompano farmers did not have access to many agricultural laborers beyond family members and everyone in the family was expected to work during critical times in the growing season. An article in the April 14th, 1905, Miami Metropolis newspaper explained the situation:

Within the next two weeks practically all of the rural or county schools of Dade County will have closed for the term.

The school at Pompano was closed last week as most of the children were being taken from the school and put to work in the tomato fields.

In nearly all of the schools that will close this month the attendance has been up to the standard and above, though it is stated that it should and would have been larger but for the fact that many parents prefer to profit by the labor of their children than send them to school.

For many of Pompano's residents, the first hurricane they experienced was a minimal storm that hit south of the Jupiter Inlet on October 11th, 1903. Even though the winds were barely hurricane strength a number of buildings in Pompano were damaged, including the town's schoolhouse.

Classes were resumed in a nearby building and in 1905 a new and somewhat larger school was opened on what is today the 800 block of East Atlantic Boulevard. The relocation of the school was a reflection of a shift in the community's center of population eastward to around the railroad tracks. Around 1910, the school building was moved to the 100 block of NE 1st Street.

In 1909, Palm Beach County was created, with Pompano being its southernmost town. With the local population increasing, the Palm Beach County School Board authorized a second teacher for the Pompano School. Plans were being made to replace the wooden structure with what one resident described as a "fine stone building." To that end, four acres of land located north of N.E. Fourth Street were donated for the new school.

Before Pompano got its bigger school, it was moved into yet another county. In 1915 Broward County was carved out of portions of Palm Beach and Dade counties. Initially Pompano was not represented on the Broward County Board of Public Instruction, but in 1919 Pompano pioneer Joseph P. Smoak was elected to that body and served on it for the next decade.

One of the early actions of the Broward County Board of Public Instruction was to authorize a new grammar school for Pompano. A two-story masonry building was constructed on the land donated for that purpose (today the site of Pompano Beach Middle School), and the old wooden school was sold and moved once again. After being used as a private residence for a while, the building was sold to the Methodist Church, which used it for Sunday School classes before it was finally demolished in the 1960s.

Perhaps nothing did more to boost Pompano's civic pride than the opening of the town's first high school in 1928. Prior to this, Pompano's white high school students took instruction at and graduated from Fort Lauderdale Central High School, which had been Broward County's only high school from the time it was built in 1915.

Although they could now avoid the long daily ride to Fort Lauderdale, some Pompano students who had been attending Fort Lauderdale's Central High School were a little disappointed that they would be moving from a school with 2,000 students and a full range of programs and activities, to a school that had an enrollment that was counted in the dozens.

A new school building was constructed adjacent to the existing grammar school that had been built a decade earlier, and when completed, the grammar school students moved into the new, larger building and the high school took over the older structure. The first graduating class at Pompano High School had just eight students.

As Pompano entered the 1930s, it had a kindergarten through 12th-grade educational campus that would serve it through the 1960s. There were still, however, a significant number of area residents who did not have access to local public schools. Rigid segregation laws prevented Pompano's black residents, who constituted almost half the local population, from attending the Pompano schools; they would have to wait until the coming decades for significant educational support from the public school system.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR

The Citizen of the Year Award was established in 2007 to annually acknowledge the exemplary service of individual citizens. These citizens offer support, time and financial resources to assist and ask nothing in return. They give of themselves year after year. These citizens are valuable assets and the foundation of our community. This year's Citizen of the Year recipient is Gwen Leys.

It only takes a glance at Gwen's list of volunteer positions to realize her devotion to civic responsibility. Ms. Leys was the 2011 Chairman of the Board for the Greater Pompano Beach Chamber of Commerce. She has been a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary for almost 20 years. Ms. Leys is past president of the Kiwanis Club of Pompano Beach and is currently serving as Lt. Governor of fourteen North Broward Kiwanis Clubs. She is serving - or has served as: a member of the Cypress Civic Association, City of Pompano Beach Marine Advisory Board, St. Martin's Episcopal Church, City of Pompano Beach Centennial Committee, Pompano Has Heart, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Pompano Beach Elks Lodge.

The Pompano Beach City Commission recognized Ms. Leys at a recent Commission Meeting and presented her with a commemorative award for being the 2012 recipient of the Pompano Beach Citizen of the Year.

3 | Pompano Beach Fire Explorers - Post 549

Career options are a big concern for young people during their high school years. If you are between the ages of 14 and 18, Pompano Beach Fire Rescue would like to introduce you to the Fire Explorer Program.

Exploring allows a young person to participate in and familiarize themselves with the field of Fire and Emergency Services. Some of the topics that are discussed and practiced are. . .

- Air Packs and Bunker Gear
- Fire Trucks and Fire Hose
- CPR / First Aid
- Patient Assessment
- Fire Extinguishers
- Fire Behavior & Extinguishment
- Ground Ladders
- Rope and Knots
- Search and Rescue

This service based program focuses on career, social skills, service, leadership, fitness, and preparation for life after high school. Though most of our training is focused around the Fire Service, you do not have to aspire to become a firefighter or paramedic to enjoy and benefit from this program.

Quite a few of our former Explorers have taken advantage of the skills acquired in our program. They are currently working as career firefighter / paramedic. Three former Explorers are working right here in Pompano Beach. There are several others around the County and one working in Georgia. One is even a police officer.

There are also currently several more Explorers that have already graduated from the Fire Academy. They have completed college and have become State Certified Paramedics. All of their hard work and dedication has put them in a position to be eligible for employment. Hopefully, they too will be working in this challenging career field.

To join, you must be between the ages of 14 and 18 and have completed the 8th grade. You must maintain a minimum of a "C" average in high school. Explorers meet every Wednesday, from 6:00 pm until 8:30 pm. For more information about becoming a Pompano Beach Fire Explorer, please contact the Training Division 954.786.5524.

CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY

Construction is now underway on Greg Norman's redesign and renovation of the Pines Course at the Pompano Beach Municipal Golf Course. During construction of the Pines redesign and renovation, the Palms Course will simultaneously have a new irrigation system installed. Norman's crew has made several site visits to the course while working on the planning and documentation of their redesign. Once completed, the City of Pompano Beach will have a Greg Norman signature designed golf course that will likely be one of the finest municipal golf courses in the State of Florida. This championship course will be a pillar for the community, providing a first class amenity for the residents and tourists to the City of Pompano Beach.

This will be Greg Norman's first design at a municipal golf course. "I was introduced to the sport of golf through public access golf courses in Australia, so this project and public golf are very special to me. I see this as the first of many municipal golf course design and renovation projects that I would like to be involved with," said Norman.

The City's new Greg Norman Signature Golf Course is tentatively scheduled to open in late fall of 2012.

E-PLAN REVIEW

The City of Pompano Beach Development Services Department is making it easier than ever to get a building permit. The City is now offering an electronic plan review process.

E-Plan review is a web based solution that allows building plans to be submitted and reviewed electronically. Through the electronic submittal, multiple plan reviewers are able to look at the plans at the same time reducing the waiting time for those plans to be reviewed. The friendly user-interface makes it easy for users at all technical skill levels to leverage the "power tools" in E-Plan Review. The E-Plan software highlights any revisions to the plans, thus allowing the City to review plan revisions quickly and accurately. These efficiency gains mean that residents, builders and businesses are able to receive their building permits in less time than ever before. In addition to speeding up the permitting process, E-Plan review process reduces printing and production costs to the customer by eliminating the need for multiple paper copies of printed plans.

CRA MARKS PROGRESS IN THE NORTHWEST

At its February meeting, the CRA Board was presented with the second annual progress report on the activities of the Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA). Since 2009, the CRA has been administered by Redevelopment Management Associates (RMA) and has shown great efficiencies in the implementation of the redevelopment plans for the City of Pompano Beach. Not all of the efforts are immediately visible in the way of new streetscapes, new buildings or new transportation improvements, but the groundwork for such improvements has been laid. Great effort has been made to keep the public apprised of progress in these arenas. Since 2010, there has been 20 public forums held in addition to the monthly meetings of both the East and Northwest CRA Advisory Committees. These public meetings covered such subjects as the proposed Connectivity Plan which showed the interrelationship between the Civic Campus site, Old Pompano, and the Martin Luther King, Jr., Boulevard Corridor, the Massing and zoning analysis for Downtown Pompano, the Technical Assistance Panel discussion held by the Urban Land Institute, and the discussions surrounding traffic calming and land use within the Downtown Pompano Transit Oriented Corridor.

Upcoming Projects All of these efforts are necessary before physical improvements can materialize. These issues of land use, platting, compliance with City and County codes and regulations all take considerable time and resources. It is anticipated that actual construction will begin this year in the Northwest CRA District. Among the first projects will be 731 Martin Luther King, Jr. Boulevard which will be a retail structure of approximately 4,000 square feet, surrounded by an improved public parking area. Costs are being estimated for the renovation of the Ali Building for use as a cultural venue. The streetscape improvements on MLK are in design and ground breaking is scheduled for the first quarter of 2013.

There will be continued public forums for the public to receive information and provide input about the Northwest CRA progress. Northwest CRA Advisory Meetings are also held and open to the public on the first Monday of each month at the E. Pat Larkins Community Center at 6:00 p.m. CRA Board Meetings are held on the third Tuesday of every month at 7:00 p.m. in the City Commission Chambers. Additionally, District 4 Commissioner Woodrow "Woody" Poitier has quarterly meetings to inform residents and answer questions about topics of interest. The next District 4 Meeting will be held on April 12th at the E. The iCanWater Campaign for single family residential reuse connections began in July 2011, upon Commission approval of the reuse ordinance and rate changes. The new program included a marketing effort, public education strategies and materials, along with the connection process which included bringing in local plumbers.

In July, at the beginning of this campaign, there were 78 existing single family residential reuse customers. In just six short months, 305 homeowners have requested either first time connections or conversions of their backflow devices. Out of these 305 requests, a total of 137 new installations and 47 backflow conversions have been completed. The plumbers are working to catch up with the backlog due to the holidays and weather. This brings our current single family residential reuse customers to 215.

Initial customer satisfaction has been high. A mail out of survey cards to 169 completed connections has so far resulted in 42 responses. Out of these 42 cards, 34 homeowners were happy with the process, while only 8 were unhappy with the process.

Our goal is to complete at least 770 connections in two years, while improving customer satisfaction. Broward County has partnered with the City in this effort and has provided a grant of up to $220,000 to assist in this program.

For more information on the OASIS Reuse Water Connection Program call 954.324.8434 or log on to iCanWater.com.

PROGRESS IN POMPANO

1 - Eternal Flame for Murder Victims: A dedication ceremony for the City of Pompano Beach Eternal Flame Monument was held in February at the City of Pompano Beach Cemetery. The four foot high monument with a perpetual flickering light fixture was built by the City's Public Works Department for families of murder victims.

2 - William J. Elliott Dedication: On March 30th, Pompano Beach Fire Station 61 was dedicated to Firefighter Bill Elliott. The Pompano Beach City Commission unanimously voted in favor of naming the fire station after the beloved firefighter who died in the line of duty.

3 - George Brummer Park: The City of Pompano Beach held a Grand Opening for the new George Brummer Park located at 3500 West Palm Aire Drive.

Palm Aire United requested the City Commission name the park after long time Commissioner George Brummer. Vice Mayor Brummer was elected to the City Commission in a special election in June of 2003 and was subsequently re-elected in 2004, 2006, 2008, 2010 and 2012.

The City of Pompano Beach purchased the five acre parcel of property in 2009 which was the former location of the Oaks Tennis Club. The City was awarded a $87,779 Land and Water Conservation Grant to assist in funding the purchase of the property. The park consists of 2 playgrounds, a basketball court, state-of-the art exercise pavilion with 9 exercise stations, 6 tennis courts, 2 bocce ball courts, sand volley ball court, 2 hand ball courts, 28 benches and 3 water fountains.

4 - B-Cycle: B-cycle has come to Pompano Beach! Broward B-cycle, an alternative form of public transportation, is an affordable, clean and simple way to get around town. Users can check out a bike from any self service station and return it to any other station nearby. The B-cycles are equipped with a GPS system that tracks mileage, calories burned and carbon offsets. To access the bikes, register on broward.bcycle.com or use a credit card at the self-service kiosks. Stations in Pompano Beach are located at City Hall and the Aquatic Center.

Flood Damage Protect Your Home and Property

This article is required by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (F.E.M.A.) to satisfy provisions in the Community Rating System (C.R.S.) for reduced costs for flood insurance. The following is offered to Pompano Beach residents to help prevent and minimize the impact on lives and property caused by floodwaters.

Flood Hazard Map

The City's Engineering Department has enhanced FEMA's Flood Criteria Map identifying flood zones for all properties in the city. The map depicts the flood hazard associated with any parcel in the City. The map is located in the Building Inspections Division at City Hall and is available in electronic GIS format.

Flood Risk

Although we have been relatively fortunate for many years, the recent flooding on Halloween 2011 reminds us of the possibility of flooding event without a major storm or hurricane.

Flood Warning System

The City of Pompano Beach, in coordination with Broward County, has a warning system to notify residents of impending flood danger. Warnings will be transmitted on public address systems, television, radio, telephone and on a door-to-door basis. Listen for instructions during times of flood risk.

Flood Safety

These are precautionary steps to consider before possible flooding:

- Listen to radio or television for warnings.
- Obey warning and evacuation instructions from disaster officials.
- Know your evacuation zone and route.
- Take your own essentials (food, toiletries, clothes, blankets, etc.).
- Turn off the electricity and gas before leaving your home.
- Bring a battery-operated flashlight.
- Be careful at all times, particularly at night, and try to remain calm.

Flood Insurance

Most homeowners' insurance policies do not cover property losses due to flood waters. To insure your property for flood damage, you need a flood insurance policy. If you do not have valid flood insurance, contact an agent immediately. Property owners can insure property; renters can insure possessions. The City of Pompano Beach participates in the National Flood Insurance Program (N.F.I.P.) to provide city residents with the initial qualification to purchase flood insurance. We applied to F.E.M.A. for participation in the C.R.S. program to enable our residents to qualify for lower flood insurance premiums.

Property Protection

There are ways to minimize property losses from flood damage, including:

- Move furniture and other household valuables to rooms or spaces in the upper story of a two-story dwelling or a location higher than the regular floor elevation in a single story home.
- Place sandbags in strategic places around your property prior to flood status. When sandbags are placed correctly at proper locations, they can slow up and divert flood waters.
- Upgrading your property can include building flood walls, elevating a structure or raising the floor.

Development Permits

All development (new construction, additions, renovations, alterations to properties, etc.) in the City of Pompano Beach require a construction permit. The N.F.I.P. and the Florida Building Code require the entire building to conform to the requirements for a new building when building repairs or alterations exceed 50 percent of the building's market value. All applicable building permit applications must conform to this requirement when submitted to the Building Inspections Division. The requirement may also apply if a building is substantially damaged due to flooding.

Stormwater Management

Stormwater is managed through a system of pipes and drainage canals maintained regularly by our Public Works and Utilities Departments. The Broward County Office of Environmental Services and South Florida water Management District. Constant water flow through these canals, especially during heavy storms, is essential to flood prevention in the City. City and state laws prohibit dumping trash in waterways. Report violators to Public Works Department at 954-786-4060.

Natural Habitat

State regulations protect those natural areas that help to reduce the risks associated with flooding. Along the beach no new structures are permitted seaward of the Coastal Construction Line without permission. Other restrictions protect some wetland areas from development.

Rate Reductions

On June 11th, 1993, the City received a letter from F.E.M.A. commending our efforts to exceed minimum standards of the National Flood Insurance Program to meet the requirements for a Class 9 rating in the C.R.S. These actions earned Pompano Beach residents a five percent discount for N.F.I.P. policies issued or renewed on or after October 1st, 1993. In September 1994, the City received official notification that Pompano Beach residents are eligible for an additional five percent discount, or ten percent total, on flood insurance based on the City complying with the requirements for a Class 8 rating in the C.R.S.

Additional Information

We urge City residents to contact or visit the Building Inspections Division to determine the flood zone and flood elevation for their property. The library at the Building Inspections Division is available for your reference. Pompano Beach City Hall is at 100 West Atlantic Boulevard, Pompano Beach, Florida. The Pompano Beach Branch of the Broward County Library, located at 1213 East Atlantic Boulevard, has information on flood insurance, flood protection and flood plain management.
