POMPANO BEACH ARTS IS EXPLODING

The City of Pompano Beach's arts and cultural arts scene is exploding! New art studios and venues have been built, old concert venues renewed and public art has emerged on public properties to enhance the aesthetic and cultural value of our City. The music and cultural arts activities have grown so much that the Public Communications Office created a website landing page to organize all of the art, culture and concert venues in one convenient location. The pompanobeacharts.org landing page was created to provide a one-stop destination for the multiple websites that announce events and offer tickets for the arts, culture and music venues in Pompano Beach.

The City of Pompano Beach City Commission adopted a public art ordinance in 2012 to enhance the aesthetic and cultural value of the City by including art on public properties. Several projects and wonderful works of art have already been completed including the Painted Pompano Series, the Barefoot Mailman sculpture and Broward 100 Inside Out murals.

The Public Art Committee plans to complete seven public art projects this year. The Mosaic Team, VisualEYES and the Old Town Mural will be three mural programs planned for this year. These mural programs are very different from one another. The Mosaic Team is a multi-year program of mosaic and ceramic artworks created and installed by local post-high school adults that are taught by a lead artist. The VisualEYES Program is part of Broward County's 100 Mural Project. The County has selected a group of renowned South Florida artists to create murals in each of the nine County Commission Districts. For the Old Town Mural, the Public Art Committee is looking to create a painted mural near the Bailey.

The Utility Box Wrap program began as a competition that was held in which artists were selected to design vinyl wraps for local utility boxes. Forty-nine artistic designs will adorn corridors all over our City and enhance the aesthetic beauty of the community by transforming the ordinary utility boxes into unique pieces of art. The are planned to be installed starting this year and will continue for years to come.

The City also plans to complete a Fishing Village Gateway to the Pompano Beach Pier, a 9/11 Memorial and to begin work on an Underwater Sculpture Garden. Public Art enhances the experience of all those visiting the City as well as facilitating economic growth.

To stay informed of current and future Call for Artists and other exciting art opportunities taking place in Pompano Beach check out the City's Public Art website at www.pompano-

The Painted Pompano series is the City of Pompano Beach's first large public art installation. The project consists of twelve pompano statues that have been individualized by artists in a variety of creative mediums, styles and techniques. These fish are located in various parts of the City giving the area artistic flare and style.

You can see the Barefoot Mailman on top of the Hillsboro Inlet Bridge. Created by Mario Chiodo, the artwork depicts the legendary mailman, James Edward Hamilton. The detailed work on this sculpture is immaculate and the accessories such as the letters overflowing from the mailman's mail bag and backpack to the letter gripped in the mailman's hand, with the artist's name and address skillfully carved in, to the cap that sits upon his head help to capture a moment in time.

Broward County's Inside Out program is a global art project that gives communities all over the world a platform to express themselves through black and white photographs that are pasted up in different communities. So far, two of the three locations for the Broward County Inside Out murals have been completed. Stop by the Pompano Beach Amphi-

Cultural Center of Pompano Beach

The new 47,000 square foot Library and Cultural Arts Center will soon to be a reality. The two-story building under construction at the southeast corner of Atlantic Boulevard and SW 1st Avenue was designed as a part of the Master Plan for the Pompano Beach Civic Campus which includes City Hall across the street. This Cultural Arts Center will include a theater that will come alive with dance, music, art and history. The new Library will include, fiction, children's services, reference and periodical collections as well as new materials.

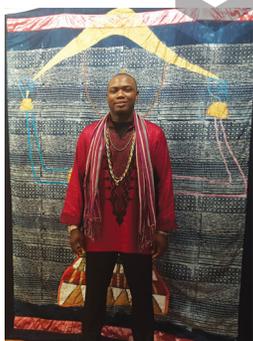

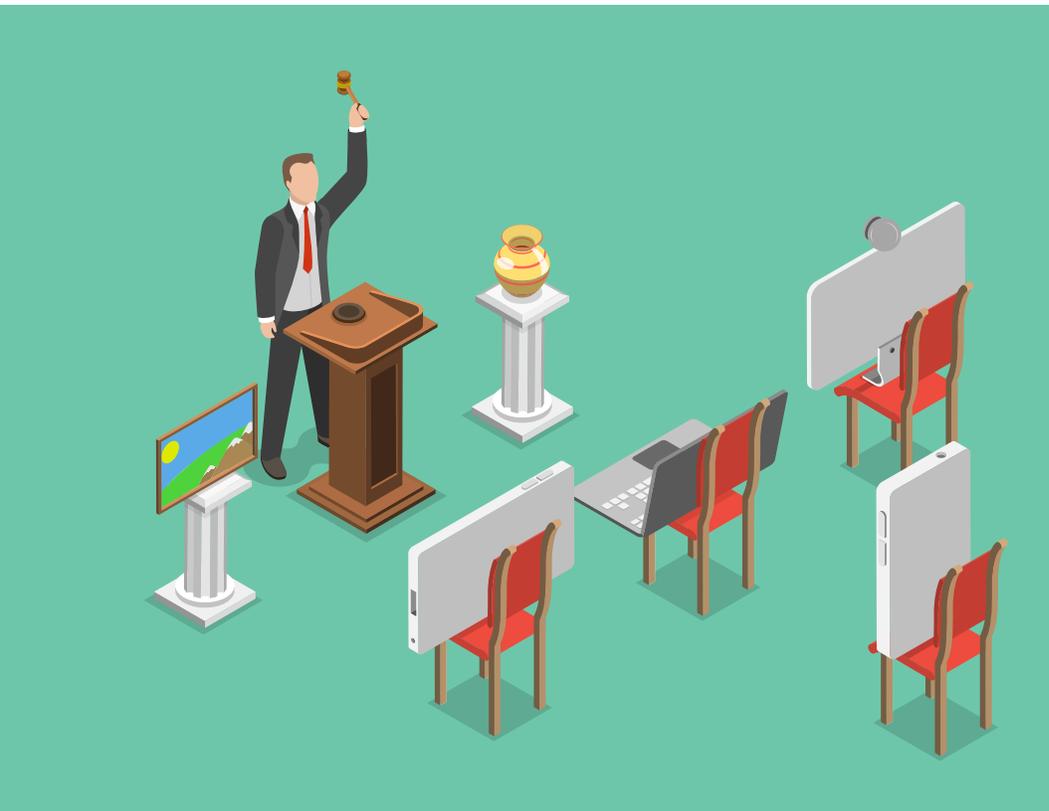

Bailey Contemporary Arts is located at 41 NE 1st Street, one block north of Atlantic Boulevard between Flagler Avenue and NE 1st Avenue. The Community Redevelopment Agency restored this historic building using many of the original interior and façade treatments to provide eight independent artist studios, gallery space and space for art and performance education.

The historic Ali building, located at 353 Hammondville Road/MLK, Jr. Boulevard, which was built in the 1930's has been transformed into a state-of-the-art venue that provides diverse cultural, educational and entertainment experiences. The Ali building, which is a tremendous source of pride for the community, is named for its former owners, Frank and Florence Ali. The Ali Cultural Arts Center has an outdoor stage and seating to accommodate 250 guests. The venue features dynamic musical programming, paying homage to the building's rich history.

Let's Talk Trash

Change is never easy. After over 40 years, the City of Pompano Beach has updated the way we handle our garbage. The change was made to improve the curb appeal of the City by eliminating the bags, piles of trash and continuous bulk trash on the curb. By now you have seen the new grey and blue carts, read the flyers and pamphlets on the new service. Here is a summary on what can go into the carts:

The grey cart is for household waste. Please place all your garbage into the grey cart. But there are other items that could also be placed into the grey cart including yard trash, coconuts, grass clipping, leaves, branches... the list goes on. If there is no room in the cart, put those yard trash items into one of your private garbage cans and place it out for service on your bulk trash day. Remember, you can't put your household garbage into your private garbage cans. Those items must go into the grey cart.

The new blue cart is for recycling and is much larger than the 18 gallon bin we had before. This is because more and more people today realize the need to recycle. The materials that are accepted in the blue recycling cart are aluminum and tin cans, plastics with the number 1, 2 or 3 on the bottom, junk mail, glass bottles and jars, newspaper and magazines and cardboard. So fill it up!

Another change is once per week bulk service at the curb. Bulk items are commonly known as those items which cannot be canned, bagged or bundled. Examples are: couch, chair, stove, desk, ironing board, mattress, carpet, wooden doors, sink, etc. An easy way to remember your bulk day is that it is the opposite of your recycling day. So for example, if your service days are Monday and Thursday and your recycling day is Monday, your bulk service day is Thursday. Remember, there are decals on the carts to remind you of your service day. Additionally, we now have a Waste Management location you can bring additional bulk materials on Saturday (up to 4 cubic yards or what a standard pickup truck could hold) at no cost. The address is 1951 N. Powerline Road. All you have to do is bring your proof of Pompano Beach residency. The hours of operation are from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. each Saturday.

Finally, we understand that this is a change that will take a little getting used to but this change will greatly cleanup the City. If you have any questions or concerns, call us at 954.786.4030 or visit us on our website at www.PompanoBeachFL.gov.

Pier Parking Garage Project Update

Construction on the Pompano Beach Pier Parking Garage is continuing on schedule and on budget. The garage, located at NE 2nd Street between A1A and Pompano Beach Boulevard, will be open to the public in time for the 4th of July celebration!

In the coming weeks efforts will focus on demolishing the old library building and begin work on Pier Street and Seabreeze Way, the two internal roadways.

The Pier Parking Garage is the first public parking garage in Pompano Beach. It will feature iconic architecture, five levels of enclosed parking with 663 spaces, 6,200 square feet of retail space and a new Tourism Information Center. The garage is the first development to break ground as part of the overall Pier Development Project that will include 40,000 square feet of retail and restaurant space and two new pedestrian friendly streets connecting the Pier to the Intracoastal.

1- Current construction progress on Pier Parking Garage.
2- Proposed rendering of the Pier Parking Garage

Over the last few months, construction has popped up around town as Pompano Beach experiences a boom in development. From I-95 to the beach, the redevelopment area is showing the promise of an exciting future for residents of our city. Business is booming, the housing market is on the rise and news about our redevelopment efforts have reached as far as the west coast ... of the USA!

Perhaps the most exciting development of all is the preparation of the grid of the new Downtown in Pompano Beach – bringing home a thriving center of commerce right in our back yard. Imagine additional 750,000 square feet of office space, 165,000 square feet of retail and more than 1,500 new residential units into the core of this city. To support this new project, the Community Redevelopment Agency and the City will work to maintain traffic flow and develop better pedestrian walkways and streets to reduce bloated and busy intersections like Atlantic Boulevard and Dixie Highway. Residents should be able to walk or ride their - from home or work with ease. Imagine being part of this growth and development and knowing that the groundwork laid today is literally paving the way for the future of your kids and grandkids.

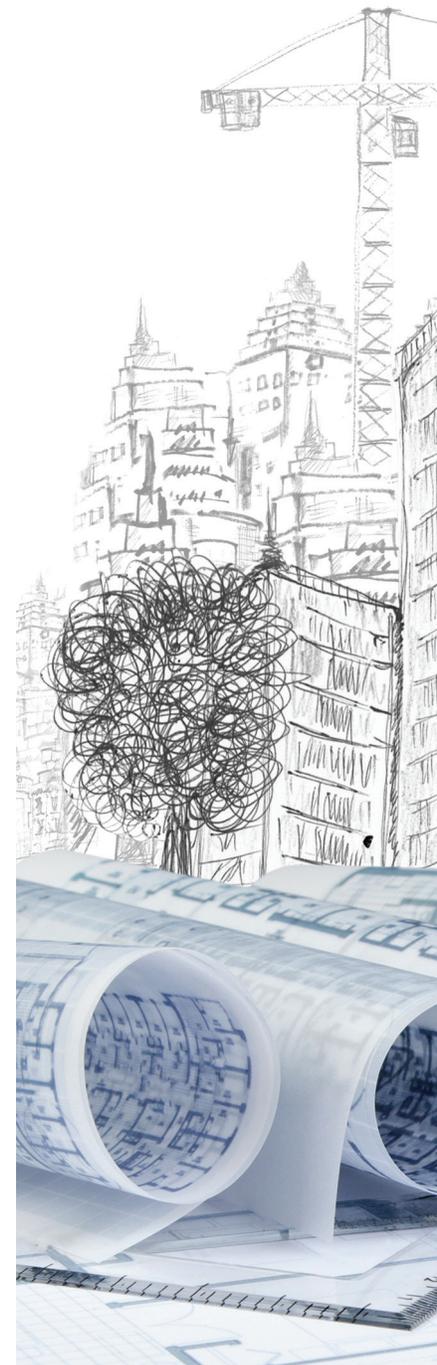

Years of planning are finally coming to fruition with a Downtown made up of four districts: The Civic Commons, a Cultural Arts and Entertainment

District, The Office and Employment District and a Residential District, all which include a more urban landscape and alternate forms of drainage.

The first of these districts, the Cultural Arts and Entertainment District, is already underway with the addition of Bailey Contemporary Arts (41 NE 1st Street), Ali Cultural Arts (353 Hammondville Road/MKL Blvd) and the future Library and Cultural Arts Center (50 W. Atlantic Blvd, under construction next to City Hall). In this district you can visit world class galleries, enjoy outdoor restaurants, and shop local retailers by day; then visit nationally recognized artists; musicians and plays take stage by night. When complete, this quaint historic-style district will be fully equipped with widened sidewalks, lush landscaping and a European style public plaza that will serve as the perfect backdrop for meeting friends and enjoying a nice glass of Bordeaux in a relaxing and peaceful environment.

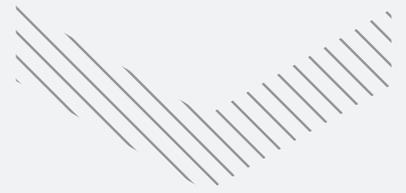

Across Atlantic Boulevard is the Civic Commons, an area anchored by City Hall, the County Library and the gleaming new Cultural Center. Surrounding land is poised possibility for commercial/office development.

Moving west to the area just off I-95 is the Office and Employment District. In late 2015, the CRA closed on a $2.5 million parcel of land creating an assemblage of 35 acres making

- 1- Integrated pedestrian, bicycles and cars into one design plan.
- 2- Inviting cafe lined street design.
- 3- Innovative district where technology, arts culture and business collide.

this future district possible. With the emergence of the City's Main Street, area locals and tourists can walk along widened café lined sidewalks, enjoy a delicious coffee alongside newly designed water promenades and iconic architecture all within walking distance to home. The CRA is positioning the Downtown as an innovative District where technology, arts, culture and business collide. The open workspaces and artist loft concepts will provide the tech industry the tools to thrive within these creative districts.

Just a short walk from the Office and Employment District is the proposed Residential District where a vibrant mix of multi-family and mixed use developments co-mingles amongst the landscape. It is anticipated that private developers will build up to 1,500 new units in the district core. One mixed use project is already in the works: City Vista which boasts 111 units and 7,000 square feet of retail.

The City has the opportunity to use the four districts to create one of the most progressive and innovative downtown districts, giving local residents all the amenities of big city life with the look and feel of the quaint hometown atmosphere we are all proud to call home.

Hillsboro Inlet Bridge Update

The Hillsboro Inlet Bridge Rehabilitation Project is almost complete. The Florida Department of Transportation scheduled the bridge for routine repair and rehabilitation work that began in 2015. The City of Pompano Beach and Town of Hillsboro pitched in to give the bridge more of an aesthetically pleasing look.

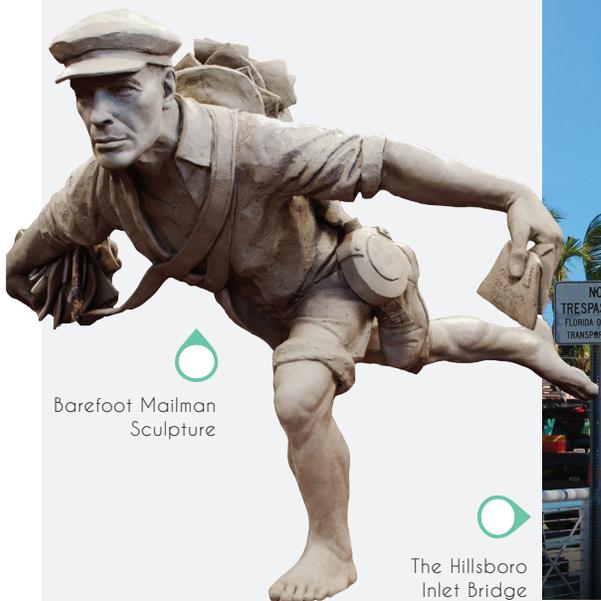

The City erected a bronze sculpture to memorialize the pioneer history that took place in our region. Barefoot mailmen were carriers on the first U.S. mail route before the turn of the twentieth century, whose 140 mile journey included both rowing boats and walking along the beach to deliver the mail between Palm Beach and Miami. At the time, there were no roads connecting the two cities and the landscape was a vast and dangerous wilderness.

The crossing of the Hillsboro Inlet by row boat was a leg of this journey and it has a particular historical significance. In 1887, James E. "Ed" Hamilton mysteriously disappeared there. A search for him ensued only to discover his clothes and mail bag on one side of the Inlet and his row boat missing. His body was never found and it was deduced that he either drowned or was attacked by a shark or an alligator while trying to swim across the inlet to retrieve his row boat from the other side. The legend of his fate has been the subject of American literature, film and fine art.

Through a public call to artists in 2014, the City's Public Art Committee gave the highest ranking to Chiodo Art Development of Napa California and the City of Pompano Beach commissioned sculptor Mario Chiodo to create the Barefoot Mailman work of art.

SAMPLE-McDOUGALD HOUSE TURNS 100

The Sample-McDougal House, located at 450 NE 10th Street in Pompano Beach, is celebrating its centennial this year. The house was built in 1916, and it is today one of a relative handful of structures in Broward County that are 100 years old or older.

The Sample family arrived in South Florida soon after the turn of the century. John M. Sample, the first to settle in the Pompano area, had purchased farming land from the Florida East Coast Railway prior to 1910.

Albert Neal Sample, a onetime architect, followed his younger brother John to the north Broward County area in 1911 from Chester, South Carolina. He was born in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina on April 16, 1866, the oldest of six children. Neal, the name he was known by, purchased his brother's land on June 11, 1915, and began constructing his new house soon thereafter.

Sample built a spacious house located on high elevation, over 22 feet above sea level, alongside the Dixie Highway and the Florida East Coast Railway, the area's two major means of transportation. Also known as the Old Sample Estate and Pine Haven, the house is a seventeen room Georgian Colonial structure constructed by Sample supposedly as a replica of a home he previously owned in South Carolina. It is unquestionably one of the most architecturally significant historic homes in the county, and one of the earliest to display a formal architectural style.

The home served as the base for Sample's farming operations that stretched from today's Lighthouse Point out west past what is now Powerline Road. At first, Sample grew pineapples, a popular crop for earlier settlers to the area, but it soon became apparent that winter vegetables, such as string beans, bell peppers, eggplant and squash, among other crops, were more profitable. Sample constructed a road in 1917 to reach his cropland (like most local farmers, Sample's agricultural fields were not contiguous). Today that thoroughfare still bears his name: Sample Road,

On December 27th, 1940, Albert Neal Sample and his wife Maggie deeded the property to their daughter Lois S. Barksdale of Greenville, South Carolina. Sample died less than five months later, on April 4th, 1941; he was seventy-four years old and well-respected among Broward County's business and political leaders. He was survived by his widow, Maggie Henderson Sample; three sons, Lee M., Hugh H., and Albert, Jr., all of Pompano; as well as his daughter, Lois Barksdale.

Sarah Sellers McDougald and William D. McDougald, Sr. had been living with their children in a two-bedroom home in Deerfield when they learned of the availability of the Sample residence from a friend. Although they purchased the home on August 14th, 1943, Mrs. McDougald who was then acting postmistress of Deerfield could not get a release from her job due to a manpower shortage during the war years. They had to postpone the family's move until May 11th, 1944.

By the time the McDougald family moved into the home, the Dixie Highway had lost some of its glamour. Mrs. McDougald recalled, "Much to my sorrow there was not much traffic - just a couple cars a day. It was lonely. We often went out on the lawn and waved at engineers and conductors in trains rolling down the Florida East Coast Railway tracks."

William Duncan McDougald, born in Montgomery County, Georgia, had arrived in Deerfield in 1921. In 1929, he married schoolteacher Sarah Sellers. Although his main occupation was farming, he also served as a city commissioner for Deerfield as well as its Chief of Police. He was deputized by the Broward County Sheriff's Department and was elected to several terms as Constable of the north Broward district.

Over time, the McDougalds saw the farmland surrounding their residence transformed into commercial property and encroaching residential development; the roadway once known as the "new" Dixie Highway become the "old" Dixie Highway. A founding member of several North Broward historical societies, Mrs. McDougald feared that because of its location the structure was threatened and its future uncertain. A fifty-year resident of Broward County, she died at age 73 in April 1979.

The McDougald children, William D., Jr., Mary Ellen, Margaret, Donald, Betsy and Dixie, inherited the house, and in keeping with their mother's desire, placed it on the National Register of Historic Places in 1984. Anxious to see the house preserved for future generations, the McDougalds supported several attempts to preserve it, including moving the house to Deerfield Beach, Tradewinds Park and the Municipal Golf Course in Pompano Beach, but logistical and financial complexities could not be overcome.

In 1999 several community volunteers -- Margaret White, Rebecca Maddox, Marvin Buntrock and Margaret McDougald Shadin -- incorporated the non-profit Sample-McDougald House Preservation Society. Margaret White had previously contacted Pompano Beach's City Manager, C. William Hargett, about municipal help in finding a suitable location to which the historic structure could be relocated. Soon thereafter a parcel of city-owned property on the southwest corner of NE 10th Street and 5th Avenue was leased to the new non-profit.

In November 2000, the McDougald family donated the house to the non-profit. The State of Florida and Broward County awarded grant funds for the project and on May 30, 2001, just minutes after midnight, the house was moved off its original site and over the next seven hours moved south on Dixie Highway and then east on NE 10th Street to its new location. Hundreds of people lined the streets in the middle of the night to view this once-in-a-lifetime sight.

The next phase of the project was the actual restoration of the house's exterior. This included repairing damaged wood siding, restoring masonry features, partial re-roofing, restoring the house's columns and other architectural features, and painting the structure. This was followed by work to restore the house's interior, including new electrical and climate-control systems, refinishing floors, walls, ceilings and woodwork, as well as fixtures. Much of this needed work was performed as in-kind donations by local businesses.

In the early morning hours of October 25th, 2005, Pompano Beach was struck by Hurricane Wilma, resulting in significant damage to the historic structure: the roof was opened, leading to water damage to walls, ceilings and floors. Wooden awnings were ripped from the house and a number of windows were broken, as was the distinctive leaded-glass fan light above the entry door. Extensive repairs began to "re-restore" the house.

The non-profit organization then embarked on a 1.5 million dollar site development and landscaping project, featuring native trees and vegetation, with adequate space for special events and social functions. Other aspects of this phase incorporated parking, lighting, walkways and restrooms.

In 2008, during the celebration of Pompano Beach's 100th anniversary of incorporation, the City Commission passed a resolution designating the Sample-McDougald House grounds as "Centennial Park." In 2010, the commission approved expanding the grounds by about 35 percent, incorporating a former city tree nursery into Centennial Park.

The Sample-McDougald House at Centennial Park opened to the public in 2011. Since then it has offered narrated tours of the historic house to the public, schools and private groups. The Sample-McDougald House has also developed a number of annual events, including its antique automobile show, the Florida Highwaymen Art Show and Holidays at the Sample-McDougald House, in addition to be the site for public events of other local non-profits such as the Pompano Beach Chamber of Commerce, Pompano Proud and the Rotary Club of Pompano Beach among others. The Sample-McDougald House at Centennial Park also hosts a wide variety of private events, including weddings, company picnics, parties and corporate meetings.

One hundred years after its construction, the Sample-McDougald House is an important part of Pompano Beach's social, cultural and civic life. It connects current residents and visitors with our region's fascinating heritage.

ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR YOUR PET

When a Be On The Look Out or BOLO is broadcast over a police radio, every officer stops what they are doing and writes down the information in the BOLO so they know what or whom they are looking for. A B.O.L.O is one of the most important announcements they receive.

The one thing that I have learned in my long career as an animal control officer is that when someone calls my office looking for a lost pet, I consider it a BOLO. Most people think of their pets as family and that is why it is so important for me to help find them.

When a child is missing we have an Amber alert, neighborhood search parties and media coverage. When a pet is missing, we have a distraught owner and a handful of friends. They're typically disorganized and without a game plan. Being unprepared cuts your odds substantially on the first day. By the third day it's a miracle if you ever see your pet again. Recovering a pet is all about timing. The people that are out with signs and knocking on doors as soon as they realized their pet is missing are the successful ones. The one that waits for the pet to come home on his own, is just like the pet, lost.

There are several reason for failure when pet owner delays. First and foremost, the person that found your pet, falls in love. That's right, in love with your pet. They purposely avoid finding the owner and make up reasons to justify their decision. Second, pets get in trouble just like people. They get hit by cars, fall in canals, and find trouble they can't get out of without help. Third, they travel long distances. I know that everyone has heard of the dog or cat that got shipped across the country by accident. Then months later it shows up at the door of its owners all tattered and thin. Those types of stories give hope, but hope is usually not the way you get your pet back. Most of the dogs and cats that I pick up are going the opposite direction and people need to stop believing that their pet has a built in GPS and will return. Fourth, pets are stolen all the time. In order to recover a stolen pet, you need witnesses, help from experienced personnel, and you have to act fast. Anyone in law enforcement will tell you that witnesses are found just after a crime has occurred, not typically three days later.

So what is the best course of action? Prepare for the inevitable, make your lost flyers before you lose your pet. You also want to gather the local Animal Control and law enforcement agency's phone number as well. The City of Pompano Beach Animal Control is 954.786.4027. Having this information readily on hand simplifies the process when you need it.

Most people are a nervous wreck when their pet comes up missing and that is not the time to be confused.

- Immediately call Animal Control and the local law enforcement agency and file a lost dog report. If the dog is a runner and a tranquilizer is required to stop it, let the officer know.
- Confirm that your pet's microchip is registered. Contact the manufacture the moment you know your pet is missing. They will create notes to aid in the recovery.
- When you believe that your pet has been stolen, you have to report it as stolen. Fill out a police report. Pets are stolen every day. If the pet turns out to be stolen and you did not report it as stolen, the officer will be not be empowered to recover stolen property like he or she would in a criminal case.
- Distribute flyers and while you post them, speak to neighbors and remind the neighborhood kids that they can get a reward for information that leads to finding your pet.
- If you live near something dangerous like a canal, especially with seawalls, get in a boat and search.
- Use a social media outlet that will spread the word fast.
- Make note of any contractors that were in the neighborhood that day. The pet many times is seen by the lawn crew.

After the first day, you can have mailers sent to certain zip codes. Get the flyer to the Humane Society and rescue groups. Many times a finder will have picked the dog up while traveling in their car. They do not live in the area and they are only passing through when suddenly your dog appears in a busy intersection. They open the door and call the dog, he or she jumps in and it is off to the next county. Most of those people will come back to look for flyers.

The most important thing for you to do right now is to secure an identification tag onto your pet. Use as many reliable contacts as possible. Use a plastic tie wrap instead of the split ring supplied. They last longer and it prevents the tag from jingling. Jingling wears out the writing and prevents the finder from reading the tag. Lastly, do not remove the collar when bathing the pet. Many people tell us that the reason their pet wasn't wearing his or her collar was because they were just given a bath.

Did you know that if you find a pet you are obligated by law to report it to the Animal Control agency of that jurisdiction? You are also required to place an ad in a local newspaper publication for three days.

When you place the ad, do not post every detail about the pet. Keep some unique detail that only the owner would know about and make them disclose that information over the phone before allowing them to view the pet. Also make sure you get identification like a driver's license before releasing the pet.

We all hope we never have to go through the heartache of losing a pet, but with a few preventative steps we can all Be On The Look Out for ourselves and our neighbors.

Owl New Home

The burrowing owls that reside at Hunters Park now have a better place to call home! The South Florida Audubon Society and the City of Pompano Beach teamed up to provide a reinforced burrow for the owls. The Florida burrowing owl is considered an endangered species. It digs its own burrow as opposed to other species of burrowing owls which nest in the abandoned burrows of other animals.

The City of Pompano Beach Public Works Grounds Maintenance Division with the helpful teachings of the South Florida Audubon Society dug into the ground to place newly modified homes for our endangered burrowing owls at Hunters Park.

Bringing Golf to Kids and Teens of All Backgrounds to Pompano Beach

The City of Pompano Beach Golf Course has been selected as a venue to host the First Tee program. The First Tee is an international youth development organization in-roducing the game of golf and its inherent values to kids and teens that otherwise would not be exposed to the game and its positive values. Through after school and in school programs, The First Tee program helps shape the lives of young people from all walks of life by reinforcing values like integrity, respect and perseverance through the game of golf. And it's making a difference. Their research-proven programs are having a positive impact on participants, their families and communities like ours.

The First Tee Life Skills Experience was formulated with the help of academic, sport psychology, youth development and golf experts to protectively teach core values and life skills as part of basic golf instruction. The First Tee has steadily grown into a robust youth service organization, impacting, influencing and inspiring more than 10 million young people.

The City of Pompano Beach Golf Course has now placed 150 children through this worthwhile program.

Beach

Hours of Operation

North Pompano Beach Boulevard & Atlantic Boulevard

The public beach is open 365 days a year. Swimming areas guarded 7 days a week 9 a.m - 4:45 p.m. During day light savings the guards extend their coverage until 6:45 p.m (early March to early September).

Restroom facilities, showers, picnic shelter and tables, barbecue grills, beach wheelchairs, and children's playground are located on the beach.

The Municipal Pier, 222 N. Pompano Beach Boulevard, is open 24 hours a day. Food and beverages can be purchased at the Pier Concession.

The public beach has two beach wheelchairs which make the beach accessible to our special needs residents and visitors. The beach chairs are available seven days a week on a first-come, first-served basis. For more information go to Ocean Rescue Headquarters (50 N. Pompano Beach Blvd.) or ask any lifeguard.

Ocean Rescue

Pompano Beach Ocean Rescue is a division of Pompano Beach Fire Rescue. The beach patrol consists of 17 full-time and 35 part-time highly trained men and women who protect swimmers along 1,200 yards of beach. All of our ocean lifeguards are certified First Responders or Emergency Medical Technicians who are trained to handle any emergency and are equipped with full basic life support equipment such as AED's and oxygen. Our agency's lifeguard certification is provided through the United States Lifesaving Association. Ocean Rescue lifeguards receive additional training with Pompano Beach Fire Rescue. Our ocean lifeguards also have extensive knowledge of the ocean and beach environment and are always happy to answer questions from the public.

Special Considerations

Boogie boarding is allowed everywhere on the beach, however, surfing is only allowed in designated areas. Wrist or ankle leashes are mandatory. Stand up paddleboards have been interpreted to be the same as surfboards if inside the vessel exclusion buoys. Launching for stand up paddleboards is north of Lifeguard Tower 6 located on the north side of the municipal pier or south of Lifeguard Tower 3 located at the eastern Atlantic Avenue terminus. No craft shall be operated at a distance closer than 100 yards (300 feet) of the municipal pier. Stand up paddleboarders outside the vessel exclusion buoys are required to wear a life vest

Hobie cats, kite boarders, paddle and wind driven vessels can be launched at NE 13th and 16th Streets only and must stay 100 yards off the public beach. Boats (both sail and motor) must also stay 100 yards off the public beach. Vessel exclusion buoys are an added visual reference.

Boat and Jet Ski launching is available at Alsdorf Park on NE 14th Street Causeway and the Intracoastal Waterway. A playground and picnic area is also available at this site.

Beach Picnic Pavilions, Sand Volleyball and Soccer Courts

Pavilions and Courts are available on a first-come, first-served basis; however, to rent either one for a special activity, an application must be made at the Emma Lou Olson Civic Center. Info: 954.786.4111 North Ocean Park, NE 16th Street, also offers a picnic area.

Flood Damage {Protect Your Home and Property}

This article is required by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to satisfy provisions in the Community Rating System (CRS) for reduced costs for flood insurance. The following is offered to Pompano Beach residents to help prevent and minimize the impact on lives and property caused by floodwaters.

Flood Hazard Map

The City has copies of FEMA's Flood Criteria Map identifying flood zones for all properties in the city. The FEMA Flood Hazard Areas found within the City limits include Zone X, Zone AE, Zone AH, and Zone VE. The map depicts the flood hazard associated with any parcel in the City. A summarized flood zone map is located in the Building Inspections Division at City Hall and is available in electronic GIS format.

Flood Risk

Although we have been relatively fortunate for many years, the flooding on Halloween 2011 reminds us of the possibility of a flooding event without a major storm or hurricane. The risk of flooding within the City of Pompano Beach can increase by the presence of higher water levels within the Atlantic Ocean and the Intracoastal Waterway due to storm surge. In general, property located east of State Road A1A within the City has been designated as a coastal zone which encounters greater flooding risk due to waves and storm surge during a significant storm event.

Flood Warning System

The City of Pompano Beach, in coordination with Broward County, has a warning system to notify residents of impending flood danger. Warnings will be transmitted on public address systems such as the City's website, CODE RED, television channel 78, telephone, and on a door-to-door basis. Listen for instructions during times of flood risk.

Flood Safety

These are precautionary steps to consider before possible flooding:

- Listen to radio or television for warnings.
- Obey warning and evacuation instructions from disaster officials.
- Know your evacuation zone and route.
- Take your own essentials (food, toiletries, clothes, blankets, etc.).
- Turn off the electricity and gas before leaving your home.
- Bring a battery-operated flashlight.
- Be careful at all times, particularly at night, and try to remain calm.
- Do not drive through flooded roadways
- Do not walk through high waters
- Stay away from electrical wires

Flood Insurance

Most homeowners' insurance policies do not cover property losses due to flood waters. To insure your property for flood damage, you need a flood insurance policy. If you do not have valid flood insurance, contact an agent immediately. Property owners can insure property; renters can insure possessions. The City of Pompano Beach participates in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) to provide city residents with the initial qualification to purchase flood insurance. Flood insurance typically covers the building structure but not the contents so verify your coverage for contents under your homeowner's insurance. Please note that there is a 30-day waiting period after purchase before NFIP flood insurance coverage takes effect. We applied to FEMA for participation in the CRS program to enable our residents to qualify for lower flood insurance premiums.

Property Protection

There are ways to minimize property losses from flood damage, including:

- Move furniture and other household valuables to rooms or spaces in the upper story of a two-story dwelling or a location higher than the regular floor elevation in a single story home.
- Place sandbags in strategic places around your property prior to flood status. When sandbags are placed correctly at proper locations, they can slow up and divert flood waters.
- Upgrading your property can include regrading your property to provide for on-site storage of stormwater runoff, installing an earthen berm along the perimeter, retrofitting the existing structure to be flood proofed, or elevating the existing structure to raise the finish floor elevation.

Development Permits

All development (new construction, additions, renovations, alterations to properties, etc.) in the City of Pompano Beach require a construction permit. The NFIP and the Florida Building Code require the entire building to conform to the requirements for a new building when building repairs or alterations exceed 50 percent of the building's market value. All applicable building permit applications must conform to this requirement when submitted to the Building Inspections Division. The requirement may also apply if a building is substantially damaged. Before building on, altering, regrading, or replacing fill on your property, always check with the Building Division on any permit requirements. A permit may be required to ensure that the construction does not negatively impact adjacent properties. If an ongoing construction project within a City does not have a posted permit sign, please contact the City's Building Division to report the possible violation.

Stormwater Management

Stormwater is managed through a system of pipes and drainage canals maintained regularly by our Public Works and Utilities Departments, the Broward County Office of Environmental Services and South Florida Water Management District. Constant water flow through these canals, especially during heavy storms, is essential to flood prevention in the City. City and state laws prohibit dumping trash in waterways. Report violators to Public Works Department at 954.786.4060.

Natural Habitat

Natural areas of the City provide a beneficial function by reducing the potential severity of flooding. These natural areas typically collect and retain stormwater runoff during rainfall events and allow for the infiltration of stormwater into the natural ground surface, which can reduce the flooding levels within the developed areas of the City. These natural areas also enhance the water quality of stormwater runoff by allowing suspended sediments and nutrients to settle during the retention period. State regulations protect those natural areas that help to reduce the risks associated with flooding. Along the beach, no new structures are permitted seaward of the Coastal Construction Line without permission. Other restrictions protect some wetland areas from development.

Rate Reductions

On June 11th, 1993, FEMA awarded the City with a Class 9 rating in the CRS. This rating earned Pompano Beach residents a five percent discount on flood insurance premiums. In September 1994, the City received official notification that Pompano Beach residents are eligible for an additional five percent discount, or ten percent total, on flood insurance based on the City complying with the requirements for a Class 8 rating in the CRS. In July 2012, FEMA awarded the City a class 7 rating so flood insurance policy holders in special flood hazard areas in the City now receive a 15% discount on their insurance premiums.

Additional Information

We urge City residents to visit www.broward.org or visit the Building Inspections Division to determine the flood zone and flood elevation for their property. Pompano Beach City Hall is at 100 W. Atlantic Boulevard, Pompano Beach, Florida. The Pompano Beach Branch of the Broward County Library, located at 1213 East Atlantic Boulevard, has information on flood insurance, flood protection and floodplain management. For More Information email floodzoneinfo@copbfl.com or contact Paola West, City of Pompano Beach CRS Coordinator at 954.454.7780 or Michael Rada, City of Pompano Beach Floodplain Manager at 954.786.4062.
